Professional Mental Health Counseling

Professional Mental Health Counseling (formerly Community Counseling) at Lewis & Clark has a longstanding reputation in the community for educating professional counselors who are well-grounded in theory and skillful in providing sound clinical interventions. We train empathetic and compassionate practitioners who through their creative leadership and advocacy contribute to the advancement of the counseling profession.

Our core mission is to train counselors who can provide effective individual and group counseling and therapy in diverse community settings. Professional preparation includes knowledge, skills, and supervised clinical experiences, as well as developing an identity as a professional counselor who understands and addresses social justice as a key factor in improving the well-being of clients, individually and relationally.

Graduates of our programs understand that power, privilege, and oppression impact the well-being of individuals and the relationships in their lives, especially as related to physical ability, culture, race/ethnicity, social and political processes, socioeconomic status, exile/migration status, religious and spiritual beliefs, language, education, gender, sexual orientation and age.

Professional Mental Health Counseling programs are for students wanting to become professional counselors and work in a wide variety of settings including community mental health clinics, hospitals, correctional facilities, educational settings, residential treatment centers, and private practice.

Accreditation and Licensure

Professional Mental Health Counseling programs are approved by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP) under the 2001 standards for Community Counseling programs. Students who complete the Professional Mental Health Counseling program are eligible to take the National Counselor Examination (NCE) and to apply for status as a Nationally Certified Counselor (NCC).

The Oregon Board of Licensed Professional Counselors (OBLPCT) extends approval to Lewis & Clark's Professional Mental Health Counseling programs. Graduates who have earned an M.A. or M.S. degree are eligible to pursue licensing as professional counselors (LPC) in Oregon. In addition, Professional Mental Health Counseling programs meet the requirements for licensure as a professional counselor in most states. However, some states may have additional educational requirements that must be met prior to licensure.

Master of Arts in Professional Mental Health Counseling*

This degree program (formerly called Community Counseling) is for students who wish to become counselors in community mental health clinics, service programs for adolescents or children, private practice, the juvenile justice system, and other community settings. Students can choose an emphasis on adult counseling or on child and adolescent counseling.

Graduate Core Requirement

A minimum of 2 semester hours and one Core convocation

Elective Courses

The remaining 3 semester hours will be earned by taking elective courses approved by the program.

* The title of this degree is pending approval by the Board of Trustees, which is scheduled to consider it in May 2011. Until this change is approved, the title of the degree is Master of Arts in Community Counseling.
Master of Science in Professional Mental Health Counseling*

Students admitted to the Master of Arts in Professional Mental Health Counseling program may choose to seek an M.S. degree. This option, which is often of interest to students planning to pursue a doctoral degree in psychology, is available only upon formal application to the M.S. program. Students wishing to pursue this degree apply after completing the requirements listed below.

Requirements for Application

Application to the M.S. requires prior admission to the Master of Arts in Professional Mental Health Counseling program.

In addition to prior admission, application to the Master of Science requires the following:

- A demonstrated capacity for initiative and independent research
- Completion of Research Methods and Statistics I (CPSY 530) (this should be taken in place of Research Methods in Counseling (CPSY 535)) with a grade of B or better
- Completion of Research Methods and Statistics II (CPSY 531)
- Completion of a thesis proposal, including a timeline for completing the project, agreement by a faculty member to serve as chair of a thesis committee, and designation of a three-person faculty committee
- Formal approval of a thesis proposal by a thesis committee

Degree Requirements

A minimum of 63 semester hours, distributed as follows:

Students must meet all regular requirements for a Master of Arts in Community Counseling (except Research Methods in Counseling (CPSY 535))

CPSY 594  Proposal Writing  1
CPSY 595  Master's Thesis Research (Satisfactory completion of a thesis—a minimum of 2 semester hours and maximum of 9 semester hours is required)

* The title of this degree is pending approval by the Board of Trustees, which is scheduled to consider it in May 2011. Until this change is approved, the title of the degree is Master of Science in Community Counseling.

Practicum and Internship Information

Students in Professional Mental Health Counseling complete two semesters of practicum (6 credit hours total) and two semesters of internship (6 credit hours total). The department partners with community agencies to provide supervised student services to clients. Onsite faculty supervision and videotaping assist students in developing their skills and providing appropriate services to clients. Practica generally require 8-10 on-site hours per week, as well as additional coursework and group supervision.

To provide internship students with the widest range of opportunities to meet their professional goals, over 100 agencies in Portland and its surrounding communities are approved for placement. Prospective interns contact and interview with agencies in conjunction with our annual internship fair. Students can expect to schedule 16-20 hours per week at the internship site in addition to group supervision on campus.

Prior to enrollment in a practicum or internship, students must complete a portfolio of their work in the program, including coursework, field work, and other professional activities, and be approved for clinical work by the program director or designee. More information is available in the program handbook, available online.

Content: This course is designed to apply principles of career development to the professional development of counselors in a variety of roles and settings. Administration, supervision, consultation, and other career-related opportunities for professional mental health counselors will be explored.
Prerequisites: CPSY 505.
Corequisites: CPSY 582 or CPSY 583.
Credits: 1 semester hour.

Master of Science Courses
CPSY 530 Research Methods and Statistics I
Content: Introduction to research methods with an emphasis on design, sampling, measurement issues, and introductory data analysis. Topics include (1) research design: elements of the research process, types of designs, program evaluation; (2) ethical considerations of research: informed consent, research with diverse and vulnerable populations, research with children, human subjects review; (3) basic measurement concepts: validity, reliability, norms, score interpretation; (4) basic statistical concepts: frequency distributions, central tendency, measures of variability, correlation. Reviews Web-based resources for conducting research. Note: Taught during the fall semester only, as the first course of a two-semester sequence. Students who wish to pursue the thesis-option M.S. program are advised to take this sequence as early as possible in their course of study.
Prerequisites: None.
Credits: 3 semester hours.

CPSY 531 Research Methods and Statistics II
Content: Research design and data analysis, inferential statistics. Simple and complex designs, normal distribution, z-test, t-test, analysis of variance, statistical power, simple regression. Overview of nonparametric and multivariate analysis. Note: Taught in spring semester only, as the second course of a two-semester sequence. Students who wish to pursue the thesis-option M.S. program are advised to take this sequence as early as possible in their course of study.
Prerequisites: CPSY 530.
Credits: 3 semester hours.
CPSY 594 Proposal Writing
Content: Direct instruction and support for the process of preparing a thesis and/or other research or grant proposals. Includes both a colloquium and individual consultations with a thesis chair (or, if not writing a thesis, another faculty member). The colloquium will focus on the refinement of research questions, the specifics of research design, and the Human Subjects in Research application process. Consultations with thesis committee chair or other faculty member will focus on the development of a manuscript that clearly details the purpose of the research, summarizes relevant literature, and identifies the proposed design and methodology for the research project.
Prerequisites: CPSY 530 and CPSY 531, or consent of instructor.
Credits: 1 semester hour.

CPSY 595 Master's Thesis Research
Content: Completion of thesis research project under the direction of the chair of the candidate's thesis committee. Three semester hours, which can be taken in 1-semester hour increments, are required for degree. Grades are deferred until the candidate has successfully defended his or her thesis.
Prerequisites: Consent of thesis committee chair.
Credits: 1-9 semester hours.
