

COSTS

Lewis & Clark, as a private institution, receives only modest support from federal and state funds. Revenues from tuition and fees cover approximately two-thirds of the cost of services provided by Lewis & Clark. Income from endowments and gifts from trustees, alumni, and other friends of the institution meet the balance of these costs.

Lewis & Clark reserves the right to change the charges for tuition, fees, and residence costs at any time and at the discretion of its Board of Trustees.
